OBJECTIVES OF THE COURSE

This course presents a problem-solving framework for diagnosing workplace inequality on the basis of gender and developing effective remedies to deal with it. The development, critical assessment and implementation of workplace equality policies are central concerns of the course.

FORMAT

This is an on-line (computer-mediated) course offered through Distance Studies, Office of the Registrar. Please see the Student Handbook for more information. The course can be accessed by going to: <http://webct.uwo.ca> The Student Handbook is also available as a PDF on the MOS3356g course website.

The course is designed to:

- ▶ expose students to theoretical and conceptual frameworks and research, drawn from the social sciences, that will assist them in understanding inequality experienced by women in the Canadian workplace and in planning and evaluating remedies;
- ▶ provide an inter-disciplinary learning environment in which students will critically assess various policy approaches and their implementation, with a focus on effectiveness;

- ▶ encourage students to set and attain their own learning objectives through the use of a variety of resources and opportunities including discussions of readings; sharing of analysis, opinions, and experience; research projects; and
- ▶ provide students with an opportunity to develop skills in critical thinking, written expression, library and/or field research, online communication and learning and working with others in a computer-mediated learning environment.

EVALUATION

Method	% of Final Grade	Due Dates
Contribution to learning	20%	Continuous
On-line group seminar presentation	10 %	Weeks 7 - 12
Analytical essay	30 %	March 4, 2011
Essay-style final exam	40 %	Final Exam period

The instructor's on-going assessment of each student's participation and contribution to learning in the course will be based on:

- ▶ quality of weekly contributions to on-line discussion;
- ▶ on-line commentaries on assigned readings;
- ▶ the extent to which contributions reflect the student's understanding, analysis and synthesis of assigned readings; and
- ▶ instructor assessment of course participation activities.

The on-line seminar presentation will be on a topic of the student's choice from weeks 7-12 on the course outline. Seminar topics are to be selected during Weeks 2 - 4.

Please note: If the student has not selected a topic by the end of Week 4, then the instructor will assign a seminar topic to the student.

The topic of the seminar presentation must be different from the topic of the essay. Students are asked to select a topic and make an on-line presentation that draws on assigned and other readings including current periodicals and to pose questions for class discussion. Presenters will also respond to the discussion and provide a synthesis at the end of the week. It is likely that 4 or 5 students (depending on enrollment in the course) will be involved in facilitating each week's seminar presentation.

The analytical essay will be a 10 to 12 page paper that:

- ▶ states a problem or issue relevant to the course,
- ▶ undertakes an analysis by applying the frameworks explored in the course, and which is based on review of theoretical perspectives and research evidence,
- ▶ proposes solutions which address the problem or issue, and
- ▶ explores the application of course concepts and frameworks to the work experience of women (related to the problem or issue selected for the essay).

Suggestions for topics and guidelines for the essay will be discussed on-line beginning in Week Two of the course. Students will be expected to select an essay topic no later than Week Three and will be asked to post their essay topic on the course site.

A 10-12 page essay is between 2500-3000 words in length, typed and double-spaced. Either APA or MLA format is acceptable. Current (~ after 1995) and Canadian sources are always preferable, and essays should include citations from at least five sources.

Essays must be submitted in hard copy (printed on paper with a title page and a separate references or works cited page) to the Distance Studies Office (Room 2140 WSSB) using the Distance Studies procedure for submitting assignments. This includes attaching the cover sheet supplied to you by Distance Studies. Please refer to your Student Handbook for details.

ESSAYS ARE DUE ON FRIDAY, MARCH 4, 2011 BY 4:00 P.M.

Please note: Late assignments will not be accepted after the due date except in the case of serious illness or other emergencies, for which documentation is required.

FINAL EXAM

The essay examination will cover the entire course and will be conducted during the final examination period using the usual Distance Studies procedures. Details will be discussed during the final weeks of the course. The final exam will be an essay style exam that is three hours in length and CLOSED BOOK.
